ED. THE INDEPENDENT:

At intervals, for a long time past, the Advertiser has spewed its nasty venom at Bishop Willis, and for what? The whole thing can be poked into a nutshell. The Bishop has been the sturdy champion of Hawaiian rights as opposed to the selfish, bigoted clique, who swirl in the groves of the Advertiser and have usurped those rights. If Bishop Willis had pulled in the traces of spoliation with the Advertiser gang, he could have done anything and everything as he pleased, and the Advertiser would have been his shield bearer. Since the time of 1893, character with the Advertiser clique has stood for nil. Their motto has been thus: If you are with us, you are a saint, if not you are a devil incarnate. There is more of the true gentleman in the Bishop's toe nail than there is in the whole lumbering carcasses of his spiteful defamers. The Bishop will live and will win. AMERICAN.

A Narrow Escape.

M. Rodocanachi, in the Nouvelle Revue, tells a curious story, which is not very well known, of Catherine of Russia. The banker Suderland gave her a little dog, of which she was very fond. It died, and on the following morning Suderland was awakened by the chief of police, who said he had come on a very mournful errand.

"Am I disgraced?" said the banker. "Worse than that; the order is even more cruel."

"The Empress has exiled me to Siberia!"

"Alas! no."

"Then I am condemned to death?"

"It is worse than that."

The banker, who knew well the fate of many of Catherine's favorites, insisted on being told.

"The Empress," answered the chief of police, "has ordered me to see that you are skinned this very morning."

And skinned the banker would have been had he not obtained permission to write to his mistress, begging for death without being skinned, as a last favor.

The whole misunderstanding then became clear, for it appeared that the Empress had said to one of her chamberlains, "I want Suderland skinned immediately," by which she only meant the little dog, to which she had given the name of the donor.

For Governor of California.

The election for the State officers of California takes place on Tuesday, November 8th. The contest is between Henry T. Gage, a down-right, straightforward Republican, and Judge James G. Maguire, who has received his nomination from the Democrats, populists and others, and first came into public notoriety in the days of the Sandlots, but who, both as judge and congressman, has given satisfaction to his supporters. In order to ascertain to a limited extent the political views of the community in national politics, THE INDEPENDENT gives its readers the opportunity of voting for these candidates. Cut out and return to this office on or before 5 o'clock on November 8. The result will be announced in the issue of November 9th.

Two Thousand Strike.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 21.—Two thousand coal miners in the fourth and fifth pools on the Monongahela River struck to-day for the enforcement of the Chicago agreement. The strikers are preparing for a long siege and are establishing camps near the mines to prevent non union men from working.

Enterprise.

The men from the camps who know good beer when they taste it, claim that the Enterprise Beer served at the Merchant's Exchange, corner of King and Nuuanu streets, is the best brew to be found in Honolulu. It is pure, clear, and very refreshing, and can safely be taken with or without "screens."
